Work To Start On Hospital

Disturbance of the Peace Brings Jail Sentence

A sentence of thirty days in the county jail was given to William Machado, war veteran and Carmel family man, by Judge Geo. Wood in city court on Monday morning as a result of his alleged disturbance of the peace Saturday night in the home of Mrs. Edna Kendall on Santa Fe street between First and Second.

It is alleged that Machado had been drinking when he visited the house and that he attempted to beat Mrs. Kendall, with the result that her young son, George, struck Machado with a small-gauge shotgun and inflicted injuries about the head and face. In the midst of the altercation, an unidentified woman called the police shortly before midnight and Officers August Englund and Charles Guth hurried to the scene. The house was found to be full of broken furniture and destroyed foodstuffs, and Machado was taken to Dr. John Gray for emergency treatment before being released with instructions to appear in police court on Monday.

In court Machado pleaded guilty to a misdemeanor charge and admitted that he had been drinking on the night mentioned. Judge Wood reminded him that he had been repeatedly warned about disturbing the peace and stated that his only recourse was to give a sentence of thirty days in jail. Marshal Englund then took him to Salinas to start serving his term.

Wreck Brings Fire Alarm And Hospital Treatment

An automobile collision that sent a woman and her two daughters to the hospital and severely damaged one car took place last Saturday evening when machines driven by Col. John Cocke, of Carmel, and Mrs. P. M. Downey, of Sacramento, came together at the intersection of Carmelo and 7th Streets.

It appears that Col. Cocke was coming north on Carmelo, and Mrs. Downey was coming east on 7th, and that the force of the impact was sufficient to throw the latter's car over on its side, resulting in Mrs. Downey and her daughters being taken to a Monterey hospital for emergency treatment for cuts and bruises about the face and head.

At the same time that Dr. David E. Matzke and Dr. John Gray were called to the scene, someone summoned the fire department salvage wagon and in some unexplained manner this caused the fire siren to be sounded, attracting hundreds of spectators.

The police department is investigating possible negligence on the part of either driver, and in the meantime warns again about caution needed at intersections with such limited vision as this one has.

Much Excitement Over Ball Game

The Carmel Juniors and the Carmel Has Beens will cross bats Sunday at 2 o'clock on the Hatton Fields mesa above Carmel Mission in a fund-raising game to buy the lads new baseball equipment. The field is in excellent shape, thanks to cooperation of Paul Flanders, president of the Hatton Fields company in donating use of the land, and to the city giving grading equipment to smooth the surface, and a fast game with flashy plays and capable doctors in the first aid booth for the Has Beens is promised.

It will be a hard ball game in more senses than one, with coming stars and ex-stars doing their stuff, and tickets selling at fifteen cents apiece a large crowd of spectators is certain to yell itself hoarse.

Under management of John

Sheridan and Rudolph Holtz, the Juniors will include John Sheridan, pitcher, Raleigh Belvail, catcher, Gordon Bain, 1st base, Dean Nichols, 2nd base, Allen Lane 3rd base or Hoshita Miyamoto, and Harry Turner at shortstop, with Harrison Foster, Louis and Rudolph Holtzhauler and Ray Hamilton and Galen Alderson as outfield prospects.

Among the Carmel Has Beens will be Galen Alderson Sr., Walter Tuthill, Ray Meeks, Gene Rickett, Frank Murray, Rosie Henry, Ernest Perkins, Bill Staniford and Clay Otto. Others interested in joining the lineup in this gala event that is going to benefit the youthful athletes of town are asked to leave their name at Tuthill's Carmel Smoke Shop on Ocean Avenue between San Carlos and Mission. Checking of insurance policies is earnestly recommended before the game begins.

ALTERATIONS TO BEGIN PROBABLY WITHIN A WEEK

Additions to the Velie Clinic to turn it into the Peninsula General Hospital will in all probability begin next week as a result of release of more than $8,000 of the $14,000 total subscribed by donors in the recent fund drive. Sixty percent of the donors have already been contacted by doctors of the region who have been furthering the hospitalization-at-cost idea, and it appears that fully ninety percent will give approval shortly.

Treasurer C. Chapel Judson, of the Donors' Committee, has contended that promises to donors have not been fulfilled and that he could not release to the Velie Clinic directors the funds in his keeping, but doctors have secured substantial proof that donors believe in the directors and want the hospital to go ahead with all speed.

The new hospital will have added to the present metabolic facilities, a surgery, maternity rooms, emergency wards, nurses' quarters and all other elements needed to give the peninsula a Class A general hospital with an open medical staff giving service at minimum cost to patients.

SON BORN FRIDAY TO MR. AND MRS. BIRCH

A new printer came to town last Friday when a son was born to Mr. and Mrs. Ray Birch at the Grace Deere Velie Clinic. When interviewed by the Pine Cone staff, on behalf of his father who could not leave his linotype keyboard, he stated that Carmel was the best place he could imagine for a young man to start in life, and that he would be on the job with his dad just as soon as Dr. David Matzke permitted him to leave the hospital.

Mrs. Birch had something to say on the subject, and declared that with so much to learn in the newspaper publishing business nowadays she did not want him to begin until he was at least one year old, so he will probably not be seen in the back shop of the Pine Cone for some time, but will remain at home to keep his sister and brother, Peggy and Leroy, company.

ENGLISH OPERETTA AT DEL MONTE HOTEL

"Love in a Village," a famous English ballad operetta with an all English cast will be given next Wednesday and Thursday nights in the Bali Room of Hotel Del Monte.

The operetta which played 32 weeks in London was revived by the same producer who staged "The Beggar's Opera." It comes to Del Monte first and will then go on the road throughout the country.

It was decided to stage the operetta at Del Monte because members of the cast who have just arrived at San Francisco are friends of the officers of the British Battleship, H. M. S. Norfolk, now anchored at Monterey bay.

The operetta is directed by G. Marsden Haddock and has a splendid cast including an orchestra which plays the special music. Following each performance on Wednesday and Thursday night, there will be regular dancing in the Bali Room.

OPENING OF SAN SIMEON POSTPONED

Contrary to all expectations, the Carmel-San Simeon highway will not be open till a year from next March.

This announcement was made after a conference between the state engineers and S. F. B. Morse President of Del Monte Properties Company, and Carl Stanley, manager of the hotel.

After due consideration it was decided that about eight miles of road just below Big Sur had to be realigned which undertaking will take about eight months, and that with other improvements will occupy the better part of a year.

This change in program will also mean that the sports events planned for the opening of the road will be postponed. However the committees chosen to put over this project will continue to function and it is hoped that with the extra time it will be bigger and better than ever.

Third Summer Season Concert Penha Quartet Next Tuesday

The second of the three concerts of the Penha Piano Quartet, which are the distinguishing feature of the Carmel Music Society Summer Series, is set for next Tuesday evening, July 24 in the Sunset School Auditorium, at eight-thirty o'clock.

Those who heard the Quartet two weeks ago will not miss this musical treat. The program is even more fascinating than two weeks ago, if such could be. Messrs. Michel Penha, the cellist, founder and director, with his colleagues, Ralph Linsley, piano, Theodore Norman, violin, and Abraham Weiss, viola, are building up an ensemble that is of importance to the entire West. The Quartet is engaged to play on the Coleman Batchelder Chamber Music Series, Pasadena, next January, on a Music Course of which the Penha group is the only Western ensemble.

Tuesday's program is as follows: Schumann, Op. 47—Quartet for piano, violin, viola and cello. Haydn—Divertimento for violin, viola and cello. Brahms, Op. 26—Quartet for piano, violin, viola and cello.

CITY SEWERS TO BE UNDER DISTRICT SANITARY BOARD

Carmel will hand over its sewer system to the Sanitary District for upkeep if present plans of the city council go through as discussed at Wednesday's meeting, and thus effect an annual saving of $1,500 to $2,000. It is proposed to sell to the Sanitary Trustees the present city equipment, and then city employees will be hired by the district to service the sewers as they are now doing.

Other business at the council meeting included granting the Serra Fiesta Committee $100 from the general fund for promotion work on the August 24th to 28th celebration at the Mission, such being made possible through motion by Bernard Rowntree, seconded by John Catlin, with unanimous approval upon taking a vote.

MOTORISTS KEEP TRAFFIC POLICE BUSY WITH TAGS

This may be the vacation period in some sections, but not in Carmel Police Court over last week end. Seven cases of traffic violation were cited by the police, and several of the hearings will come up this week before Judge Wood.

Robert F. Nevin, of Los Angeles, was tagged on the 14th for over crowding the front seat of his car, a charge on which he had been previously warned. His driver's license had expired, furthermore, and in court Monday morning he pleaded guilty and was fined $5 and told to get a new license.

R. A. Vaccaro, of Monterey, was cited on the 15th for improperly parking too close to an intersection, and Charles Henry Finger, of Burlingame, was tagged on the 14th for speeding 35 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone, while Jerome D. Peters, Jr., of Chico, was picked up the same day for going 32 miles per hour in a 25 mile zone.

Leonard E. Willendorf, of Los Angeles, was tagged on the 15th for driving without due caution and for having but one workable headlight. Rubin Tice, of Pacific Grove, was cited on the 14th for ignoring a stop sign on Monte Verde street, and for having no certificate of registration, and Al Boyd, of Carmel, was picked up the same day for parking in a reserved space, and for driving without a certificate of registration or having an operator's license.

FLOWER SHOW AND MEETING TONIGHT AT CUSTOMS HOUSE

The Monterey Peninsula Garden Club will hold its Second Monthly Show this evening at the Old Customs House in Monterey, in charge of Mrs. Francis E. Lester, and the flowers featured will be violas and campanulas. Exhibit material must be submitted by gardeners and garden owners not later than 3 p. m. today, and they must notify Mrs. Lester in advance so that space may be saved for them. Admission is free, and the show will remain open over the week end.

Coincident with the opening, the Club will hold its regular monthly meeting, and will be addressed by Mrs. Will C. Bogan, on the Portland Rose Festival, Mrs. Lester Rowntree, speaking on violas and campanulas for Peninsula gardens, and Dr. H. G. Wetherill, on flowers observed during a recent trip to Victoria, B. C.

To both of these events the public is cordially invited.

CARMEL HOST TO FIREMEN OF NEIGHBORING COUNTIES

Carmel firemen were hosts last week to the Tri County Firemen's Association, for a supper and entertainment following the business meeting in Manzanita Hall. With nearly one hundred members present, Chief Elmer Anderson, of Salinas, conducted the routine affairs which come up every three months at these gatherings, and then the members were greeted by Robert Norton, Carmel Fire Commissioner, and addressed by Senator Ed Tickle on a fireman's valuable community service.

H. F. Hensinger, of Carmel, told of butane gas and methods of controlling fires involving this fuel, and Captain J. L. Baker told of vocational education conducted for firemen in Salinas.

Entertainment was furnished by the Monterey Firemen's Stringed Orchestra, and by a quartet of William Crabbee, Leonard Abinate, Ray Faulkner and Andrew Sessink, with Miss Alice Kieth accompanist.

WILL ROGERS' SON TO SPEAK NEXT SUNDAY

Recently the editor of the "New Republic" came home and said that everybody he met in Europe spoke not of "If the next War" but "When the next War?" This question becomes ever more serious in America also. And with it the question of armaments and of training young college men in the R.O.T.C.

Nearly every State College has had serious trouble over the question whether the R.O.T.C. should be compulsory or not.

Next Sunday Bill Rogers, Stanford undergraduate, who is at the Monterey Presidio now taking his ROTC training, will discuss this question and the question of armaments also. Young Rogers, son of the world known humorist and daily commentator on political events, is one of the crack Stanford speakers, being on his College debating team.

The meeting will be held at the Green Room of the Carmel Community Hall, 8th and Casanova, at 8 p. m. on July 22nd. Admission 25 cents. The Chair will be taken by Dick Criley, of Carmel Highlands, former Stanford student.

CARMEL COMMUNITY CHURCH
Melvin C. Dorsett, Minister

Service of Worship at eleven. Theme "The Religion of the Out-of-doors". Miss Laura Cotton will sing, "By the Waters of Minnetonka," by Lieurance. Mrs. Andrew Sessink will accompany this number and Miss Cecil Rauhut will play a violin obligato. Miss Cotton and Miss Rauhut accompanied by Mrs. Frederick Search, will play as a violin and cello duet "Meditation by Bach-Gounod."

No Supply Shortage Seen by Merchants

Carmel merchants dealing in vital commodities report that the town need have no fear of shortage through attempted strangulation of supply sources by strikers in the San Francisco region.

A canvass of grocery stores, creameries, gasoline service stations, restaurants, drug stores and other centers of distribution showed that ample amounts of commodities are on hand and that the only depletion lately has been through the unusual demands made by customers stocking their homes against possible shortages.

The favorable location of Carmel is shown by its closeness to supplies of vegetables and fruits in surrounding agricultural districts, to warehouses on the peninsula and to fuel storage tanks supplied by pipe lines from producing fields.

the need for a Legion Post in Carmel. Credit was given the energy of the preparations committee, consisting of Willard Whitney, Don Hale and Conrad Imelman, and thanks extended to Mrs. Pat Hudgens for decorating the hall with flowers from her garden.

James Regan made an appeal for members to sign up for the pending organization meeting of August 20th, when officers will be elected, and 46 veterans put down their signatures.

PIANISTS HAVE CHANCE TO TAKE PART IN SERRA PLAY

Opportunity to take part in the Serra Fiesta and Pageant is offered to pianists in connection with the Indian Dance scenes, and Arthur Gunderson asks that interested persons get in touch with him by phoning Carmel 207-M. He is rehearsing dancers nightly at the Sunset School, and assures applicants of a most interesting time in connection with this nationally known historical play which will be presented at the Carmel Mission August 24th to August 28th.

George Marion, dean of American play producers-actors will take the lead in the Pageant, called "The Apostle of California," and which he, himself wrote, and a notable cast of professionals will support him in this play which promises to become a California classic.

Governor Frank Merriam has proclaimed August 28th, the anniversary of Serra's death, a state holiday, and many national notables will be guests of honor at the Pageant that night.

CARMEL ACTORS PERFORM IN PARK ENTERTAINMENT

A troupe of Carmelites assisted by Fenton Foster in an evening of entertainment at Big Basin National Park last Sunday evening, and among the performers were Allen Knight, Frank Schultzeberg, "Slim" Foster and Winsor Josse-lyn, assisted by Meta Williams and Frances Ward.

Following several numbers by Foster's Glee Club, which included many prominent peninsula vocalists, the Carmelites presented "Pancho Villa's Triumph," a touching episode of heroism below the border, and "The Swami Mind-reader," a mystifying presentation that had everybody guessing, as well as the Swami. Foster has spent many summers in the park, and annually puts on one night of his famous divertissements.

LOCAL VETERANS ENJOY DINNER AT LEGION CLUB

The American Legion Club of Carmel met in Manzanita Hall on Monday evening for a pig roast dinner with seventy five veterans in attendance. James Regan was chairman, and introduced James Filey, outgoing commander of Monterey Peninsula Post 41, and Chet Curry, incoming District Commander, each of whom made brief talks. The first two spoke on desired cooperation between the Monterey and Carmel groups, and Clarke told of the San Jose district meeting last Sunday.

O. W. Bardarson, secretary of the local club, gave a few words on the value of the American Legion to the youth of the region, and Mayor James Thoburn spoke on

New York was performed by Kuster with sincere racial accent. In pace, emotional urge, colorful contrast of moods, Edward Kuster gave us in many respects a more sympathetic George Simon than the New York lead.

By avoiding the breathless, rushing haste of the metropolitan star, Kuster gave his lines a moment to sink in and take effect. It was masterly timing. In the attempted suicide, in his tenderness for his Ghetto mother, the scenes with his icy blue-blood wife, his despair when caught framing an alibi for a client and his joyous rebound when extricated, in these and other moments Kuster equaled or surpassed both professional stage and cinema stars in this role.

In a Kuster directed show it goes without saying that the supporting cast is excellent. Settings were effective and Simon's private office was impressive. As gum chewing, slangy telephone switchboard girl, Barbara Collins won repeated applause. Barbara Allen Gaskin as Simon's private secretary gave a flawless and most appealing performance. Dorothy Leyard as the attorney's mother added another success to her enviable list. Frank Hefling won a hand for an excellent bit as Charles McFadden. Betty Meyers and Frank Work represented the "Four Hundred" in a classy performance which alone would entitle them to place in any social register.

Fulton Tooker as wayward brother of Simon and Charles Kilian as radical agitator were applauded for good work. Georgia Wapple and Jane Hewlett were excellent as principal in a murder scandal and an actress. Elton Connors as politician deserved the hand he won. Others who did good work include: Mildred Baer, an excellent character type; William Lingley as Simon's law partner; Disbrow Johnson, raw-boned college highbrow; Markham Johnston; Sonia Gunderson; Dale Leidig; Carl Brennfleck; Patsy Hamm; David Davids; Lee Van Atta; Mary Kellogg; Dewey Clough.

Edgar Leslie is visiting his grandparents at Pine Crest in Tuolumne county during the month of July.

CALISTA ROGERS SECOND CONCERT NEXT FRIDAY

Calista Rogers will give the second of her Song Series in the Denny-Watrous Gallery a week from tonight, featuring songs of Schumann, Schubert, Wolf and Brahms—an evening of Lieder. As before, Ralph Linsley, pianist of the Penha Quartet, will be at the piano.

Schubert wrote over two hundred songs, very few of which are ever sung. Many of the most beautiful are rarely heard. Miss Rogers has chosen some of these less heard melodies, to the great delight of her audience. As in the first evening, Miss Rogers will speak very briefly of the place in Song of the composers and the pieces she has chosen.

"Counsellor-at-Law" the outstanding hit of Carmel's summer season, reviewed elsewhere in this issue, will be played on its scheduled dates, tonight and tomorrow. This whirlwind play of modern New York, with its kaleidoscope of colorful types that frequent the offices of busy and successful lawyers, represents the best in summer drama produced with Monterey Peninsula and summer colony talent. Edward Kuster, producing and directing the play, makes this statement "We are not a little perturbed over the rumor that the expected arrival of an out of town production has brought about the postponement of the final performance, tonight and tomorrow night, to kill this rumor most emphatically, as there never for one moment has been any warrant for it. We are all highly gratified that

'Counsellor-at-Law' proved a hit last week end and are looking forward to capacity audiences to night and tomorrow." The curtain for "Counsellor-at-Law" rises promptly at eight thirty.

Calista Rogers' Song Recital

Last Friday Calista Rogers, distinguished Carmel mezzo-soprano, sang the first of a series of three recitals she is giving in the Denny-Watrous Gallery. The little hall was well filled with a discriminating audience, who showed intelligent appreciation and sympathetic response to an excellent program well sung, and expertly accompanied by Ralph Linsley at the piano. Miss Rogers' voice is round and full. It possesses volume, which the soloist was too wise to unleash in the tiny gallery. It sounded to advantage in some of the pianissimo numbers, such as "Have You Seen a White Lily Grow," and in "Fine Knacks for Ladies" by 16th century John Dowland, which was artistically phrased and shaded.

Like Mary Garden, Calista Rogers is greater than her voice. With this vocalist intelligence, charm and musical taste score as heavily as mere singing. Consequently the recital was rich in educational values. The singer discussed the various styles of song, beginning with the troubadours and crusaders of the 13th century and progressing to the time of Mozart (1756-1791).

Miss Rogers' second recital, July 27, will deal exclusively with the German Lieder of Schubert, Schumann, Hugo Wolf and Brahms, a period which musicians cherish as the golden age of song. Calista Rogers' musical and dramatic gifts and her rare sense of values should make this event outstanding.

Wurzburg-Legge
Wed Monday Night

At a quiet ceremony, Marjorie Legge became the bride of Fritz Wurzburg last Monday night at eight-thirty. The ceremony was performed at the home of the bride's parents, Dr. and Mrs. Robert Legge, in Berkeley, with the Reverend Robert Leavens officiating. The bride wore a white satin dress and carried a bouquet of white roses. Among those in attendance were: Liesel Wurzburg, sister of the bridegroom, Dr. Robert Legge, Jr., and Dr. and Mrs. Robert Legge.

The bride is a graduate of the Anna Held School in Berkeley, and attended the University of California. After finishing college, Miss Legge studied music abroad for two years. She recently established a studio in Carmel and will continue with her musical career after they return from their honeymoon.

Mr. Wurzburg is the son of Mr. and Mrs. Leo Wurzburg of Frankfort-on-the-Main, Germany, where his father is a leading lawyer. Mr. Wurzburg was educated abroad and attended the Stuttgart University in Germany. He came here a number of years ago and established the Peninsula Type-writer Exchange in Monterey. His mother came here several years ago and was so impressed by the beauty of the Monterey Peninsula that she went home to Germany and wrote a number of articles for the large German papers on the beauty of Carmel and the Monterey Peninsula.

After a two-weeks' honeymoon, spent at Lake Tahoe, Mr. and Mrs. Wurzburg will return to Carmel to live in the Legge Studio which is being altered extensively during their absence.

Mary Pickford's Troubles Here

By WINSOR JOSSELYN

An editorial in this paper about Celebrity Sanctuary brings to mind to the region as guest of honor at the American Legion benefit dance. the recent visit of Mary Pickford By way of contrast to the Carmel quiet that envelopes them when they want it, the hectic scenes that await them when they must meet their public stand out like things glimpsed in the glare of photographer's flash-lamps.

She came into the building with its dancing mob, its crowded tables, its whoops and laughs, and barely had a lane been cleared to let her and her hostess reach the central table than the crowd flew toward her like filings to a magnet and stuck as closely. Not just to look at her and then move about their pleasures, but to remain tight-wedged, and to begin dinning for autographs.

Mary (she was Mary to them on the instant) showed right there how she had won her permanent place in America's heart. She trouped with a trouper's smile and ready wit and tireless agreeability. Half a dozen times the bodyguards offered to clear the crowd so that she might have a bite to eat or just sit back and watch others for a change. And each time she would take the nearest pencil and go back to dashing a signature across the endless variety of things extended toward her.

There were scraps of hat checks, club membership cards, tickets to other dances on that same evening, cigarette packs; even bottle labels, a straw hat and, strangely enough, blank cheeks. Now and then she would thumb the article as if to see what might be beneath it, but usually it was just a flash of the pencil, a smile and then the next.

Blue eyes full of light, mouth alive, light hair rippling to the left across her forehead and now and then a toss to send it back. "I love it," she exclaimed when yet another helper tried to get her a free moment after an hour of it, "and I don't care how long it keeps up. What's that? You want me to write what? Sure!" A voice with a perky lisp in it.

And the small figure there in blue and white check gingham, with a diamond bar pin, and a square-cut diamond ring, bent to her task at the whim of her people.

If she wanted any proof of the enduring, universal esteem in which this baffling nation holds her, she had it in the cross section of one small community battling like football players to get her name on something to take home. To take home and do what with not one of them could have told next day, although the girl who got the champagne bottle autographed did say that she was going to use it for a candlestick.

There is a celebrity—indeed, almost a tradition—at work within touching distance of her world. It would take a psychologist to explain it and it would probably make dull reading, but the fact remains that there it is in all its fantastic, pushing, pawing reality.

Small wonder that Carmel can afford to give such people a dropping-out-of-sight refuge and find them coming here time and again, and small wonder that your veteran Carmelite is willing to further that protection for the besieged within our gates.

OUR THANKS

"Society makes distinction broad enough. But strip us of our artificial robes and we are one and all equally naked and equally exposed to the keen winds of want and the torments of disease.

"According to your capabilities you will settle with your consciences. There is no commuting for a given sum and claiming exemption. . . . After all, the destitute and the sick are our brothers and sisters.

"Our liability to want and suffering makes us human and members of the human family. We do not offer up our alms to God that he will save us personally from such anguish as we see before us, but quietly and with unshaken nerves we provide against misery that needs must be though we see nothing of it."

Thus spoke one of the greatest kings of Hawaii, a man who was by heredity a king, by training a king, by thinking and behavior a king, Kamehameha IV. It was at the laying of the cornerstone of a remarkably fine hospital in Honolulu, Hawaii, just seventy-five years ago.

Today the people of the peninsula are to be congratulated that they have not forgotten their duty to provide an institution for those who need help, those who without proper hospitalization could never hope to receive the aid and the care that is their due.

Through the patience and conscientious work of our people the Peninsula Community Hospital becomes a reality, all indications being that work to make a class A general hospital out of the Grace Deere Velie Clinic will begin almost immediately.

CELEBRITY SANCTUARY

Carmel is developing a new tradition, the tradition of leaving visiting celebrities alone—when they want to be left alone. Many and many a person burdened with an international name slips into town and puts up at a hotel, or goes into the seclusion of a friend's home, or takes a cottage, without being peered at through windows and hearing knuckles rapping against doors, or, when he or she strolls through the village, without having autograph hunters rush up, or real-estate agents beckon from doorways.

Birds and animals have a sanctuary here, so why not celebrities?

The newspapers of town are doing much to foster this happy condition. We are not a metropolis, and we don't have to use metropolitan methods such as the bribing of servants or resorting to frontal assaults as the victims venture out for fresh air.

Perhaps it is because we have so many resident celebrities that we feel at least half way human toward the visiting ones. Perhaps it is a part of our welcome in wanting people to enjoy this rare region without their having to wear dark glasses and wigs. Perhaps it is good business. Be that as it may, more and more of the world-famous are coming here—and are coming back, which shows their liking for our village and the treatment they receive.

THERE IS A WILD WEED

I shall go in search of a wild weed
 And finding shall leave it hidden
 That grows in the lee of the wind,
 Against the need of my mind.
 For surfaces thorny and brittle
 When sharp thoughts whittle the heart
 A swift-odored anodyne
 When sick thoughts without rhyme
 Without reason
 Work their treason in the mind
 I shall go in search of a wild weed
 Flowered with a blue
 That is sea-blue only
 Leafed with a green
 That is only the sea's
 Thorned for me and all the lonely
 A wild weed in the lee of the wind.

—Isabel Perry Doughty
 In "Poetry"

DESERT-CHILD

Cactus in the brown pot
 Ugly and beautiful . . .
 What are you doing at tea,
 In a fashionable drawing-room?

Desert-born . . .
 With the desert air about you
 Child of the burning sun
 And the loneliness . . .
 How have you thus wandered?

Speak! sharp-sworded creature!
 Utter your word of defiance!
 Shatter these walls with a tone
 Out of the red dust and the distance
 The superb silence!

—Daniel Hawthorne

ENCHANTMENT

Phosphorus burns in the Tall palmettos.
 When the wind shakes
 The leafy fringes
 Magic wakes
 In moonlight
 White.

I would rather be
 A tall palmetto
 With dead fronds hanging
 Mournfully,
 Hanging . . .

Dust-gray, dust-brown
 All day . . .
 Hanging . . .

To burn blue . . . white
 Like stars in the full moon!
 When the north wind blows
 Each dead fan glows,
 I would rather be
 Palmettos

In moonlight
 Than a rare tinted begonia
 Growing in sheltered shadows
 Dangling blossoms . . .
 Coral-bright!

—Dorothy Marie Davis.

The movie stars are the biggest test of this new tradition. Name over those visiting Carmel during the past year, just a few of them. Mary Pickford, Greta Garbo, Ronald Coleman, James Cagney, Gloria Stuart, "Chic" Sale, Charles Laughton, Ann Harding, Robert Montgomery and Mr. George Arliss.

Of course, if they want publicity while they're here, we can couple their name with Carmel and give 'em the works and there's no telling how far it will travel. But We do not turn on the limelight when it isn't wanted, and thus Carmel becomes a sanctuary for those seeking peace and vacation.

UNDIGNIFIED—

A councilman should expect, and be willing to accept, more insults and insinuations as to his honesty than the ordinary citizen. For one thing, he has, in accepting the office, placed himself in a position for criticism and opened to the public the privilege of regarding his official acts with disfavor if it so wishes. Even the law grants the office holder less protection against libel than it does the private individual.

The dignity of the council, or of any member of that body, is not enhanced by arguing with individuals of the audience, or by having the police throw men out of its chambers. Even should the excuse for resentment be extreme, a flare-up of temper and a call for the help of the officers of the law lacks dignity. It should never be necessary to answer criticism with physical opposition.

The expulsion of a disappointed bidder for the insurance contract at last week's council meeting would have been impossible for a council that had more experience in office, or greater understanding of the rights—and license—of free speech. Though harder to stand, a silent hearing of the charges would have been in better form. If every person who has the desire to criticize the council must face a battle with our police department, it will just be too bad!

Many readers of the Pine Cone, citizens and taxpayers of Carmel, would like to know why the accepted insurance company is $173.87 better than the rejected bidder. But the editor of the Pine Cone is not going to the next council meeting and ask. That stairway is too long and hard.—P. N.

HOSPITALITY'S SPEED LIMIT

"What kind of a way is this to treat a summer visitor?" demanded a speeder in City Judge George Wood's court recently.

Just why Carmel hospitality should include freedom to make a racetrack of the streets, or to flash by stop signs, or to drive without a license, or do any of the other things that result in a police tag is not quite clear, although every season a few aggrieved motorists wail against the unfairness of law enforcement—in their particular cases.

While Carmel welcomes summer visitors, and flourishes while they are here; this hardly means that villagers should be called on to risk life and limb to please presumptuous newcomers who bear down on the metropolitan background as authority for law-breaking.

For everyone's protection, traffic laws in summer must be especially observed, and this means nothing more than driving with due caution and ordinary common sense. Otherwise—a visit to the city court.

Mrs. Koch left this week for her xious to dispose of everything at honeymoon, and Mrs. Berkey is an- once.

A LLEN KNIGHT, who has from the San Francisco Palace Hotel to play a four night run in Carmel's Denny-Watrous Gallery. and a downtown lot could be Wednesday every seat was sold and had together for less than $500, all the standing room the law allowed. Two performances remain, influences in his life—music and tonight and tomorrow, then the ships—can be traced to a motion picture shown in Carmel in 1907. at the Palace.

"It was in the old Manzanita Theatre, which is now the Pine Cone's location, then at Mission and Ocean, that the super film 'Evangeline' came to town for a mammoth three-day run. I was right there, of course, and my yearning for music was so pronounced that the manager gave me a job.

"The music consisted of a piano and a tom-tom. The pianist played the atmospheric accompaniment, and whenever the Indians showed up I beat the tom-tom. This was, I fully believe, the first picture with really good sound effects on the Pacific Coast."

Asked about the ships, Knight said it must have been the canoes in the picture that turned his thoughts toward the sea. Years later he sailed before the mast, then was in steam and finally was a yacht broker in San Francisco. But no matter how far he goes, Commodore Knight will always praise movies.

POSTOFFICE LOCATION READY FOR EQUIPMENT

Spacious new quarters for the Carmel Postoffice in the M. J. Murphy, Inc., building at Ocean Avenue and Mission, will soon be cleared of partitions remaining from previous occupancy and give a space 30 by 70 feet, plus loading platform, to serve the constantly growing demands of local inhabitants.

Less than three months will see the changeover completed, and then the village will have a federal plant able to keep pace with the growth of this region, especially in view of the crowds motoring through when the new Coast Highway is completed next summer.

'Drunkard' Audience Reels with Laughter

by Hal Garrott

An "all-star" cast of that smash hit, "The Drunkard," came down

Never have I seen an audience enjoy itself so heartily and express itself so vociferously. There were words of advice and caution for wayward youth, hisses for the villain, all amid singing, clapping, hand waving, and continuous uproarious laughter. Surely Galt Bell has brought this supposedly melodrama of the fifties to life to cheer us through a depression, whose clouds are only just now lifting. The Los Angeles company has been running for over a year, and "The Drunkard" is playing New York, Chicago and other big cities, it is running in the movies and ecstatically over the radio.

Galt Bell's exquisite humor in interpreting the solemn melodrama of the Victorian era has convulsed Carmel before this in "Streets of New York" and other revivals. Now his and Shobe's production of "The Drunkard" is calling forth more "belly laughs" than Broadway has heard in a single play in decades.

This show can't be reviewed, it's too funny. It must be seen and heard to be believed. But tribute is due to lovely Peggy Converse whose name will some day adorn Broadway, to Vallejo Gantner, master villain, Klyde Kraft, John Carter, Connie Clampet, June De Roche, Lois Lee and that irresistible comedy team Rice and Cady, and of course to master of ceremonies Neeley Edwards, and that incomparable pianist.

He did the child part delightfully and proves his worth in the bit he is now playing. Plans so bit he is now playing. Plans to make the stage his career. Mrs. J. A. Brennfleck, his mother, is here also from Portland.

Miss Betty Wheeler had as her house guest in Pebble Beach last week, Dale Adams of Belvedere, who left for her home there last Wednesday afternoon.

NEW FLOOR SHOW NOW AT DEL MONTE HOTEL

Direct from a successful run in Europe, Dorothy Streeter and her troupe of famous dancers will appear Friday and Saturday night in the Bali Room of Hotel Del Monte and Sunday evening at a dinner dance at Del Monte Lodge, Pebble Beach.

Miss Streeter and her troupe have appeared in the most famous hotels and cabarets in Europe and have recently come to this country. They will give a different program during each night of their limited three day engagement.

"So popular has been the run of Varne and Vivienne that we have decided to offer another noted group of dancers," Carl Stanley, manager of Hotel Del Monte, said today. "We are fortunate in getting Miss Streeter to come to the Peninsula."

The Streeter troupe of dancers consists of Miss Streeter and two others. They will do special interpretations of the Carioca, Rhumba, and Tango, to music furnished by Bob Kinney and his orchestra.

OPEN HOUSE HELD BY HIGHLANDS FIREMEN

The Carmel Highlands Volunteer Fire Department held open house last Sunday afternoon in its members with donations from new district fire station, built by Highlands residents, and Chief Tom Fisher and his men played hosts to over thirty guests. Mrs. Thomas Fisher, Mrs. Jack Eaton and Mrs. Grace Raibourne assisted in serving refreshments.

In the evening members of the department and families gathered to dance and play cards. Membership of active firefighters consists of Chief Fisher, Assistant Chiefs Tibbets and Jack Eaton, Sazo Kodani, Loren Brown, Robert Erickson, Henry Morales, Ed Silverar, Joseph Victorine, Louis Passaderi, Everett Gregory and Clarence Castro.

IS THAT SO?

The old cry used to be that what the country needed was a good five-cent cigar. Let's get closer to home. What Carmel needs is a good five-cent cup of coffee.

The line between truth and poetry is even wider between truth and what this column says. A while ago the Hobbies Contest conducted herein brought out the winning ones of (1) Collecting ashes from cigarettes of famous persons, (2) Collecting divots from mashies of champions, (3) Painting spots before the eyes.

Now a Seattle woman, writing on Carmel, picks up the first two of them as among the new hobbies of Carmelites. And, to top it off, the article is reprinted in this very paper.

What age shorts? Three experienced observers still can't tell how old some of these tourist gals-about-town are in their brief pretties, and it's got 'em worried.

The recent hot spell made thirst records as well as heat records, and perhaps the best crack that came out of it was, "Say, I'm so thirsty I could drink from an empty glass!"

Depression is not without its compensation. There's one office here that has advanced science another step because of it, and the resultant invention is gladly given to a crabbed world.

The red ink bottle had been left open, so great was the demand for it, and one warm, fly-bitten afternoon the bookkeeper began muttering, shaking the pen, jabbing it back in the bottle, then repeating the process. Not many minutes later she was sent out to cool off at the nearest beer-bar, but her tantrum was not without avail—the ink bottle was found to be full of flies. It was the perfect fly trap. It was depression's answer to man's oldest problem.

Old Black Joe is the name that the blonde young woman of five and a half gave the decrepit crow found roosting outside the kitchen window, and if a better name was ever given to a broken-down bird of rusty plumage, the household never heard of it.

Sort of Godsend to take her mind off her business venture that failed; the venture that was going to buy Christmas presents for her parents. It was a bee trap, using honey to lure them and her dog Tippy to catch them in his mouth once they arrived. "But," she said, round-eyed and shaking her head, "not a single bee came at all, not one!"

BRITISH CRUISER COMES TO MONTEREY FOR WEEK

Arriving today in Monterey harbor for one week, H. M. S. "Norfolk" will be the center of peninsula social activity, and many parties have been planned by hosts who will include prominent Carmelites.

Teas, dances and sports events will mark the stay of the British ship, and homes will be thrown wide open to officers and men in the same hospitable manner which has made the port one to be anticipated in these visits of every two years by a cruiser of His Majesty's navy.

Complete lists of officers and men will be published by the daily papers, and friends and relatives will have no difficulty in locating persons wanted and in boarding the vessel at stated visiting hours.
